63RD ... E. A. ASSEMBLY ... TOMORROW

Bohrod Leaves For South Pacific

Aaron Bohrod, popular artist-residence, left last week for the west coast, from which he will be sent to active battlefronts in the South Pacific to paint the war as he sees it. Mr. Bohrod is one of a half dozen artists being sent by the U. S. government as foreign correspondents. His status will be the same as a journalist, except that his reporting will be done with the brush instead of a portable typewriter.

In a farewell interview Mr. Bohrod stated that he had enjoyed very much the opportunity of living in our community and painting the wealth of available material. He said that undoubtedly there had been a development in the culture and quality of his work since coming here seven months ago. He was very pleased with the sympathetic attitude of Southern students and Carbondale towns people toward fine art. To his friends he said that he would like to leave in a few days, but he wished to take this column to thank every one of them for their courtesy and friendship during his stay here. Scarcely times Mr. Bohrod has given indications that he values the work which he has done here highly. It has already been arranged to have a one-man show of his recent works at the Carbondale American Artists in New York this fall.

To Serve For Six Months

Tentative plans are set up which will keep Mr. Bohrod in active service for at least six months, according to the present plans he will be sent immediately to the base at New Caledonia, from which he will be sent to various front lines in the South Pacific to paint the war as he sees it. When a permanent place on canvas is returned to the base. This plan is necessary since it would be impossible to paint under front line conditions. As it is understood the artist will be given a small camera, to pick up details of scenes which they plan to incorporate into their pictures. The works will be done in water color and oil.

To Have New Artist-Residence

It is entirely possible that after his six months contract has expired, it may be renewed for more active work on other fronts. With the departure of Mr. Bohrod, it has been necessary to make preparations for the location of a new artist-residence. For several months Thurston H. Shryock has been corresponding with several nationally known artists who were possibilities for the position. Among those considered were: Ernest Phenix of the Associated American Artists; George Schreier of New York; William Cropper; Frances Chapin of the Art Institute in Chicago; and Talley Bennett, also of Chicago. Almost without exception the artists stated that although it was impossible to accept the position at the present time for reasons varying from operations to draft status, they insisted that they be asked again when there was another opening. The artist whom the Art Department has finally obtained is the well known Illinois painter of Chicago. Several of his pictures have been here at Little Gallery exhibits.

It is hoped that the student body as well as the community will join in welcoming Mr. Bohrod to our community.

Member of Army Air Corps Contingent Writes of His Impressions of Southern

By A.C.C. Leon Zapolensky
Hut! Two! Three! Four!
Hut! Two! Three! Four!

As the cadence count rings out clearly over the drill field on the campus, S. I. N. U. awakes to the presence of the marching feet of the United States Army Air Corps.

The first contingent of Aviation Cadets has now spent several days amid the ample quarters arranged for the men through the friendly cooperation of Southern Illinois Normal University. The high morale which prevails in the U. S. A. C. has consequently been matched by the fine spirit shown by the university and towns people.

The soldier students are impressed by the natural beauty of S. I. N. U.'s snow-dusted campus, by the sturdy and stately buildings, and by the invigorating weather in which they now find themselves.

Coming directly from the warmth of southern Florida, the new New Yorkers all feel quite at home in this climate. Drilling around the campus now, they eagerly await their classroom studies, which are scheduled to begin shortly.

The mental, moral and physical caliber of the Aviation Cadet candidates is confirmed by the U. S. A. C. which selected them after rigid examinations. Under the able direction of experienced Air Corps officers and non-commissioned officers, they are here to prepare themselves for their appointed tasks as guardians of the sky. The air crew training detachment has its own student officers, appointed by the regular commissioned officers serving under Lt. T. McCall, commander of this post. The student officers are A. C. C. Captains Tannenbaum, H. J. for Squadron 1, quartered in Auditory Hall, and C. C. Captain Merello, R. for Squadron 2, stationed at University Courts. A complete roster of cadet officers serves in lesser capacities, under the leadership of the students' command.

Among our soldier students are former accountants, clerical men, mechanics, bookkeepers, clerical workers, draftsmen, engineers, furriers, librarians, postoffice clerks, ritters, reamers, shipping clerks, students, salesmen, statisticians, and toolmakers. There is also a newspaper editor, a song "plunger", a scoutmaster, two fire men (A.C.C.'s Fisher, E. and McGee), and two of the New York police department's "smoots", A. C. Brennan, W. C. and A. C. Brady. C. H. who also saw service in the Canadian Militia.

Men of outstanding ability in arts and sports include Aviation Cadet Candidates Manges, G. R., Grand Opera Guild singer; Orban, C. Silver, V. and Jette, E. D., artists; Levanth, I., exhibiting photographer; Amelino, R. and Seifried, J., professional baseball and football players; Stuhler, G., former National High school golf champion; and Fred Fry, roller-skating speedster.

Looking forward to the time they will spend within their present surroundings, hard at work with study and drill, the men also hope to find time for some recreation and social activities. The open-handed welcome extended to them upon their arrival leads them to believe that they will find a place waiting for them in the community. The Aviation Cadets, S. I. N. U. The Aviation Cadet candidates are determined to earn their welcome by exemplary conduct at all times. FORWARD, MARSH!

MILES, BUSINESS HEAD OF COLLEGE TO AID WAR DEPT.

Mr. Edward V. Miles, Business Manager of Southern Illinois Normal University, was recently invited by the U. S. War Department to serve on a national committee of college accounting authorities. The duty of the committee will be to formulate the policies and to work out the accounting procedures for the war war Army Training Program, which is being put in operation in colleges and universities throughout the country.

Mr. Miles' commission will call for his services on a permanent basis over a period of sixty days. Several years ago Mr. Miles published a book under the auspices of the American Council on Education on the topic, "Teaching College Accounting," which was for him national recognition in that field.

ADDITIONAL HONORS AWARDED TO BOHRD

Aaron Bohrod, former prominent artist-in-residence at the Southern Illinois Normal University, was recently awarded two distinguished recognitions in the art world. Mr. Bohrod's oil painting, "Oakdale Avenue at Night," was purchased by the Philadelphia Museum of Art from the collection of the Philadelphia Museum's permanent collection, "New Orleans Street," a lithograph, was purchased by the Metropolitan Museum of Art from the artist for Victory exhibition for its permanent print collection. This is the third of Mr. Bohrod's works in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Teachers: The Art department extended a cordial invitation to you to see the latest Little Gallery art exhibit. The exhibit is being in the north end of the second floor of Old Main.

Marriage Of Figaro Captivates Large Student Audience

By JAMES GRAVES

"The Marriage of Figaro," popular Mozart opera, was presented Monday night, March 15, in Shryock Auditorium by the Nine O'Clock Opera Company. The opera, last in this season's series of cooperative concerts, was one of the best attended and most appreciated. The entire opera was given with a cast consisting of merely seven singers. It was an excellent performance, one which held the constant attention of the large audience.

The entire performance was patterned after Wilder's "Our Town" in presentation. The stage scenery was reduced to a minimum, the story told down to four comparatively short sequences, and the whole production sung in English. Most of the omitted plot was explained by the narrator, who, like the stage manager in Wilder's play, used an invisible technique in directing his remarks to the audience.

Most of the singers were young students from the Julliard Graduate School. This school is famous for turning out some of the best trained voices now singing serious music. The entire performance was done with a minimum of safety which by the closing of the last curtain had permeated the enthusiastic audience. There was much applause and much good music in this one of the world's oldest operatic treasures.

Capt. Stewart Transferred

Captain Stewart, commanding officer of the profligate cadets at Southern, was transferred last week to Lubbock Field, Lubbock, Texas. First Lt. Robert L. McClum has been assigned as commanding officer since Captain Stewart's transfer. Lt. McClum served as assistant of the Army Air Corps of the detachment at the University of North Dakota until he was ordered to S. I. N. U.

Tests For New Army, Navy Setup April 2

A qualifying test for the Navy College Training Program, V-12 and for the Army Specialized Training Program will be given by the Auditorium on Friday, April 2, from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. If a man is selected for either of the programs, he will be assigned to a college in active duty in the Army or Navy and will be given pay and uniform and expected to follow a prescribed course of study in some cases leading to a college degree.

For the Navy Program the man must not be twenty-first birthday by July 1, 1943. He must have a high school graduate by that date, but it is not necessary that he be attending college at the time of the test. It is required that he be a citizen of the United States, unmarried and agree to remain unmarried until he receives his commission. He must evidence potential officer qualifications, including appearance and scholarship records.

Students trained for general duties under the Navy V-12 Program will receive four terms of college work. Courses for the initial two terms will be similar for all students and will emphasize work in mathematics, science, English, history, engineering, and drawing. At the conclusion of their college work students will take specialized Navy Training leading to commission. Additional elective courses may be permitted in some cases.

For the Army Training Program men are eligible. If they will not reach their twenty-second birthday by July 1, there is no restriction as to whether a man is married. Those who are sent to college under the Army Program will be required to first complete the basic college course, but it will constitute a part of the man's war record and will receive consideration in connection with subsequent Army tests. Students under sixteen will not be called to active service until the completion of the school term which is current on their eighteenth birthday.

The purpose of the program for both Army and Navy is to provide officer candidates. Students now in college of the Bachelor are not eligible to take the tests, but all other men students are advised to consider these opportunities very carefully.

STUDENT DELEGATION LOBBIES FOR U. S. I.

Last week a student delegation, composed of Tommy Williams, Les Fairbank, Morris Polan, Rosemary Oshel, Nancy Freeman, Warren St. James, James Wilson, and Frank Owens, went to Springfield to secure support for the U. S. I. Bill. The delegation appeared before the Senate Education committee, which is conducting hearings on the bill. The bill must be recommended by the Senate committee before it can be presented on the floor for debate.

Tuesday another student delegation left for Springfield to appear before the same committee, which is conducting its hearings on the U. S. I. Bill.

NOTICE! There will be no school tomorrow. Regular classes will be resumed Monday, March 22.

Pulliam Addresses Belleville Rotary Club On U. S. I.

Mr. Roscoe Pulliam, president of Southern Illinois Normal University, addressed a meeting of the Belleville Rotary Club on Tuesday, March 2, where he explained the case for the proposed conversion of S.I.N.U. into the University of Southern Illinois. Mr. Pulliam pointed out that while Southern Illinois is economically undeveloped, its resources are rich in natural resources for agriculture, with its vast oil and coal fields; its therapeutic, clay, lime, and water supply (Crab Orchard field). Through reforestation, the land would be made immensely valuable without reducing the amount of land available for agriculture.

Coal Fields Affected By Depression

In telling how the establishment of a state university in Southern Illinois would enrich the whole state, Mr. Pulliam went on to say that during the recent depression, the coal fields of Illinois had been one of the two most seriously afflicted parts of the whole United States, and that many millions of dollars were spent by the federal and state governments to subsidize the industry. The lack of education in the area during the past half century was certainly partly responsible for a large part of the loss of the coal fields. Lack of practical education and lack of vision on the part of too many of our citizens is a major cause of our economic depression. Lack of education and the collapse of the basic industries," contended Mr. Pulliam.

Public Schools Poor Here

Those contrasting rural, backward and Southern Illinois, Mr. Pulliam maintained that the comparative success of the New Englanders could be greatly attributed to the educational advantages which they have. He said that "where the people are poor, regardless of natural wealth, Southern Illinois can rehabilitate itself only through generous provision of education of the broadest type."

He pointed out the possibilities of a post-war university for Southern Illinois, unhampered by the restrictions placed upon teachers colleges. Mr. Pulliam stated: "In a real University for Southern Illinois to give instruction, research, inspiration, and leadership to the area will in time produce sound economic development. It will not only save the taxpayers money formerly spent on various kinds of relief, but it will make our area rich in material goods, and what is much more important, it will give our area a new value of education to a free people."

U. S. I. Only Answer
In answer to those who think that perhaps the establishment of a University for Southern Illinois would harm the University of Illinois, Mr. Pulliam made it clear that the U. S. I. would be alone in the region it serves, and that, although it might deflect a very few students to Carbonate, any marked increase in the enrollment would come from among those who could not now attend any University.

SPRING ENROLLMENT EXCEEDS 9 HUNDRED

350 students registered for the 1943 Spring Term at S. I. N. U. Friday, March 15, in the Wheeler Library. Since last term 300, mostly males, have withdrawn. Last spring term the enrollment reached 1105, two years ago 1185 registered. This discloses a critical 50% decrease.

However, in consideration of employment opportunities and the toll taken by the various branches of the service, S. I. N. U. has held its own. However, the transfusion received by the college in securing the Army Air Corps Training Program will noticeably alleviate the situation. 125 Air Cadets enrolled March 15, the college is assured of an increase to 250. Some rumors, as yet unverified, indicate that the enrollment of cadets will number 500 in the near future.

War Council To Be Organized Next Tuesday

Next Tuesday, 22nd, in the Little Theatre, the Student Council will hold the first of a series of meetings, the purpose of which is to get students interested in and participating in war work.

At this meeting the main purpose is to elect the executive committee and each committee under its own auspices. The council is to make nominations and decisions from the students.

This council, made entirely of students, is organizing to take part in the vital war needs in Carbonate. Some of the activities which will be organized are: the Little Green work, salvage campaign, recreation for the soldiers on the campus, the selling of stamps and bonds and many others.

It is requested that each bona fide student, or otherwise, have at least one representative present at this important meeting. It is your patriotic duty to attend!

It is to be understood that all previous war duties on the part of students will be absorbed in this new council and taken care of entirely by the student body. Such work as Red Cross and the sale of stamps and bonds will now go into the new organization.

Mrs. Wanda Gunn and General Chatters attended the week-end College Victory Assembly held on the campus of Northwestern University for the purpose of sharing ideas with student leaders on campus throughout the country on the question of effective ways of organizing students for action on the home front.

This organization planned for the U. S. I. Bill, just one of the many which are springing up all over in the various colleges and universities in America.

Two Former Students Complete Primary Course

Naval Aviation Cadets Edward Scherer and Harry Spear, both former students of Southern Illinois Normal University, have been transferred to the Naval Air Training Center, Corpus Christi, Texas, after successful completion of the primary flight training course at the Naval Air Station at Glenview, Illinois.

After passing the advanced flight training course at Corpus Christi, Cadets Scherer and Spear will join on their wings as Naval Aviators and be commissioned as Ensigns in the Naval Reserve or as Second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Program Will Feature Many Speakers

The sixty-third annual meeting of the Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association will be held Friday, March 19, in Shryock Auditorium on the campus of Southern Illinois Normal University. Elementary and high school teachers from the entire southern third of the state will be in attendance.

Three very prominent speakers have been secured for the occasion. Dr. William McGovern, former professor of political science at Northwestern University and now a Lieutenant Commander in the Joint Intelligence Service; Dr. Shridharan Fellowship of Gandhi, noted author and lecturer, and Mr. Lester Grimm, director of Research for the I. E. A.

Dr. McGovern, who will address the meeting at 11:30 a. m. Friday morning, will speak on some of the most interesting of the present world problems, drawing on his rich background of experiences for material. At sixteen, Dr. McGovern studied in a monastery in Kyoto, Japan, and became a Buddhist priest. He attended Oxford University, working his way through by teaching Chinese at the University of London. He explored the Amazon, dug up Inca remains in Peru, and penetrated the Forbidden City of Lhasa in Tibet. Recently he has spent some time on a book on Japanese grammar, and speaks twelve languages.

Dr. Shridharan, who will address the afternoon session at 2:30 p. m. for years, been a devoted follower of Gandhi and is perhaps the best informed person on the subject of Gandhi in India. His book, "War Without Violence," outlines the theories and tactics of Gandhi in view of the events now taking place in India, his talk is expected to be unusually timely and of special interest.

Mr. Grimm, who will address the assembly at 1:30 p. m. on the topic, "The Teacher's Concern in School Legislation," has served as director of research for the I. E. A. for the past two decades. Mr. Grimm is a recognized authority on educational research in America. Many important school laws in the last ten years have been based substantially upon information he has supplied.

The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Elbert Pulliam, wife of Governor Pulliam, president of the Southern Division of the I. E. A. Reports of the Public Relation, Legislative, and Finance Committees will be presented. Special music will be given by the Little Theatre, furnished by the McCollins and the public is invited to attend any or all of the various sessions.

Program

Following is the program for the meeting:

On The Social FRONT
Sigma Sigma Sigma
March 29, the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority will hold Open House at their new Chapter House at 810 South Normal. Everyone is cordially invited to attend, especially the Army Air Cadets.
The sorority is raffling off a home-made, completed quilt on April 15. Chances are 10c a piece or three for 25c. Why not buy one. You know, Yours may be the lucky number.
Two weeks ago the Sigma Sigma Sigma girls were honored by a visit from their National President, Miss Noble Lee Walton from Clearmont, Florida. She is also the president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Miss Walton attended the Charleston-Southern basketball game and afterwards was entertained at the Chapter House with a buffet supper. Saturday and Sunday were spent in private and public council under the able guidance of Miss Walton. Sunday morning the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority in a body took Miss Walton to Church. Afterwards dinner was enjoyed by the girls and their president, and also their House Mother, at the Hub Dining Room. Some of the many lovely gifts Miss Walton received were a bouquet of dried flowers from the Sigma Sigma Sigma alumnae, a book and candy from the active members of Sigma Sigma Sigma, and a corsage from the Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority.
Mr. and Mrs. Scott Gill are visiting in Carbondale with their parents. They plan to be in town for about a week.
Delta Sigma Epsilon
The weekend of March 13-15 Miss Stein, the Alpha Delta Sigma and eleven girls made a trip to Eastern Illinois State Teachers' College at Charleston, Illinois, and installed and initiated a new chapter. Alpha Nu, to Delta Sigma Epsilon. The girls who made this trip were Margaret Keene, Anne Placko, Jeanne Harris, Betty Elliott, Betty Sittley, Alice Dole, Mary Ann Peck, Eleanor Dornall, Marjorie Rait, Pat McSherry, and Sue Garrison. A banquet was held Saturday evening in honor of the new chapter and a tea was given on Sunday afternoon in honor of the visiting Carbondale guests. It was a tired but happy and satisfied group of girls that returned to the chapter house on Sunday evening.
Within the last month the Delta Sigma have lost three prominent members—Margaret Keene, Joe Lippe and Grace Krump. Margaret Keene has assumed the duties of president since Caroline has left the chapter.

NOTE!
An appeal is being made to all college young people who are not identified with other Sunday evening religious groups to attend the Fellowship meetings which will begin this Sunday at 8:15 p. m. in the Little Theatre.
The group will be interdenominational in make-up and the programs will be non-sectarian in emphasis. The plan originated with the college young people who have been meeting on Sunday evenings at the First Presbyterian and First United Churches. But it is not intended to identify the new program with these local churches or denominations. To it are invited as well, all students who are members of religious groups which are not represented by any church in Carbondale.
The program is at present in charge of a Steering Committee made up of one person from each denomination represented in the interested group. Programs dealing with life problems and religious issues of particular interest to college age people are being planned.
The meetings will convene each Sunday evening at 8:15, and the formal program will be concluded at 7:15. All interested persons are cordially invited.

PULLIAM SPEAKS ON NEED FOR U.S.I.

Mr. Pulliam also said, "Surely the great universities to the United States are to be trusted not to take the position of opposing the advancement of education in Illinois as a whole. It is for the many young people who cannot afford to leave Southern Illinois the opportunity of college training in fields other than teaching."
"These men eventually do something to catch up with the rest of the states in its expenditures for higher education," stated President Pulliam. "It is certainly worthy enough to provide equal opportunity for all the young people. Other states with only a fraction of its wealth and population have provided at least two state universities to meet the divergent needs of their citizens."

campus. Marjorie Rait and Anne Placko have been elected to assume the position of sergeant and scholarship chairmen created by Jo and Grace respectively. Pat McSherry was elected to office of vice president to succeed Margaret Keene.
Thursday evening spring rush was held at the chapter house.

Anthony Hall

The girls who once inhabited Anthony Hall are thinking their times at Hot Heller. Not actually, you understand; they're not face to face with him—yet. However, they have made a delicate contribution to the war effort. They have evacuated their happy home and turned it over to the College Training Division of the Army Air Corps.
And that isn't all—many of the attractive waitresses were once "Anthony girls."
Despite the fact that they are scattered to the four corners of Carbondale, the group still has its "togetherness."
With the kind permission of a benevolent Spirit, the Spring Formal will be held in the Little Theatre or one of the gym. The probable date is either May 7th or 8th.

THE SOUTHERN SALUTE
By LORRAINE DITZLER

Two Southern men who have ever been among those who "fought the good fight" in campus affairs are fighting obstacles in service camps—Bill Reynolds and Fred Armstrong. Bill, editor of the Oshelski until called to the Marines a few weeks ago, sends a brief note to the administration of the college and a dramatic plan for the Egyptian, which will soon be mailed to Pres. William H. Reynolds. Platoon 32, Rec. Depot, M.B. Partis Island, S. C.

Armstrong sadly fears that he will be made an officer by at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Because the place is full of bookkeepers. His own devotion to the army follows: "The first thing that happens in four weeks of basic training. As a result of this we go to the hospital. This is a very concentrated course and like I say, much so here. After this comes a period of schooling about nine weeks. I don't know what they school you about if anything. My address is Pvt. Fred Armstrong, Co. B, 3rd Platoon, Group, First National Training, Ft. Harrison, Indiana." "Afterthought, I forgot to tell you how I like the army. It's pretty nice so far. They made me and when they put my hair off, I never again. I also haven't seen a woman in two weeks. I certainly miss the week ends at home. Friday nights I also think about how all the college kids used to rush to the shore to rush for. Now's in drink good here. This sloop we have here is awful."

Two weeks later Freddy communicates that he is "undoubtedly the poorest but happiest soldier alive. Did I used to worry, well, never again. Worrying was a thing in which I indulged before I found there were lots of other people in the world, all with problems—whether it be sore feet, mortgages, or what have you. I have to write all my letters today because I will undoubtedly be on latrine duty or KP tomorrow. This is no fault of mine, but simply because the officers don't estimate me."

"Instead of having my feet at a 45 degree angle when at attention, mine are placed at a 50 degree angle—this is bad. Being such a poor soldier I am waddling along in a dress parade yesterday trying to keep in step when the platoon leader, some damned Southerner

This morning two Indianapolis papers had a picture of me (unrecognizable thank God) out in front of the whole damned bunch of soldiers. This is why I almost feel that I will be in latrine duty before long. It is terrible the way those southerners mash up their words. I'm surprised that the rest of the platoon heard him. . . .

CAMPUS BULLETINS
Students:
If you have any coat hangers that you do not need, please turn them in.
The soldiers need hangers badly.
A Student Council election to replace Don Reynolds and Ray Ragsdale, Freshmen, and Henry Hinkley, Sophomores, who are now in the Armed Forces, will be held Friday, March 28.
The Jackson County Teachers' Credit Union would like to remind its members, both present and prospective, that those personal financial obligations can well be met by "credit union money." If you are in need of information on this subject, see the treasurer, Prof. D. C. Meintz.
